THE RIGBY RACES.

The October Meet To Be One of the Best in the Track's History.

The October meet at Rigby promises to be the largest and best trotting event in the history of the track. The purses were announced last spring and the entries have been coming in ever since until there are now over 800 and it seems probable that about that number of horses will be here to start. These are to be the stakes and there are horses entered in the 2 1/4 class which have since the entries were made trotted down to 2.10 and 2.09. Many of these horses have made new records, but few have met in races, so this Rigby meet will bring together fast horses which have made their marks this year in the trotting world, but have not made them in races with each other. An enthusiastic Maryland horse owner writes that he has a horse with which he hopes to lower the track record of 2.08 1/4. The entry payments for the government fields will very likely more than equal the amount of the purses, some of which are for $2000 each.

Everybody Smuggled.

St. Johns, N. F., September 9.—More smuggling seizures were made today. The ramifications of the smuggling syndicate are proving to be vast. The whole city is honeycombed. Many leading citizens are involved, including several prominent supporters of the government. The government party is split on the question of prosecuting those who are suspected of complicity.

FAMOUS OARSMEN

Will Contest for New England Championship

AT LONG ISLAND TODAY OFF MARRINER'S LANDING.

A PRESS Reporter's Visit at Fred Plaisted's—Something About Ten Eyck and Casey.

Today, if pleasant, will be a great day at Long Island. In the forenoon, at 10 o'clock, from Custom House wharf Mr. "Gus" Frates will start on his long journey in a tub to Long Island. At 4 p. m., will occur the great matched race between James Ten Eyck, champion of New England and a world famed oarsman, and Jeremiah J. Casey of Boston, also a celebrated oarsman, and a close competitor of Ten Eyck for the New England championship. Today's race will undoubtedly demonstrate whether Ten Eyck who has held this championship for so long, is losing his grip or not. Miss Tilly Ashley, the woman sculler, will give an exhibition of feminine ability at rowing that is seldom seen. J. A. St. John will be referee of the race. The Casco Bay Steamboat company will run two extra trips at 1 and 3 o'clock to Long Island.

JAMES A. TEN EYCK IN YOUNGER DAYS.

This race was brought about by Fred Plaisted, the famous oarsman, whose place at Mariner's Landing has been so popular with plonies parties this summer. He offers a prize of $250 for the winner of the race.

A PRESS representative made a trip to Mariner's Landing yesterday afternoon, and there found three of the most prominent living oarsmen of this country. They were enjoying themselves on Fred Plaisted's piazzas and with the latter's rifle. Fred gave an exhibition of splendid marksmanship. He placed a letter on a tree about thirty feet distance, and said: "See me hit the stamp." He did penetrate the upper corner of the stamp at the first shot. He also hit the bulls-eye of his target twice in succession. Ten Eyck vowed that he could hit that bull's eye, but found that it was either smaller or farther off than he had supposed. Casey contented himself with making fun of Ten Eyck. These three oarsmen are very different types of men physically.

James A. Ten Eyck of Worcester, is five feet nine and three-quarters inches in height and spare and wiry of frame. He weighs but 133 pounds when stripped for racing at the present time. He has always been a light weight, and to his disadvantage, for a "good" big man has an advantage over a "good" little man. Allowing the science to be equal, the big man has just so much more power.

Mr. J. J. Casey is five feet, seven and one-quarter inches in height, of plump and solid build, but small frame. He weighs, when stripped, for racing about 135 pounds. Fred Plaisted's fine physique and big frame and muscles are familiar to Portland people.

JAMES A. TEN EYCK.

He was born in 1852, at Tompkins, Cove, Rockland county, N. J., on the Hudson river. He will be 43 years of age next month. His family was a rowing family. His father and uncle used to row double scull races at New York and vicinity. His first race was when he was sixteen years of age. He went down to Sing Sing to witness a rowing race and "Josh" Ward, an ex-champion of America was there. He knew young Ten Eyck's father and matched the boy against another youngster. He won the race and ever since has been racing most of the time, a period of twenty-seven years. He has rowed all over this country. He went to England in '86 with Ned Hanlan, as his trainer, when the latter went over to row Beach, the Australian. At that time Hanlan, Teemer, Ham and Ten Eyck rowed a four oared race on the Thames for the championship of the world. The other team consisted of George Perkins, champion of England, at that time, George Buebar, afterwards champion, and Wallace Ross and George W. Lee of America. The former team won the race.

The Duluth regatta, about four or five years ago, had another big four oared race. The teams were Hanlan, Teemer, Hosmer and Wise, and Gaudaur, McKay, Ham and Ten Eyck, two crews from Buffalo and a crew consisting of Wallace Ross, John Kennedy, who, used to live in Portland, and two others, named Murphy and Vail. Mr. Ten Eyck's crew won, with Hanlan's crew second.

Among later races was an open regatta at Haverhill, in '89 for a purse of $100 and the championship of New England. There were seven contestants, viz.: John McKay, John Joyce, William F. Conley, James Ten Eyck, J. J. Casey and Fred Plaisted and another man. Ten Eyck won this race with Casey second.

The following year Ten Eyck was defeated in a match race at Lake Quin-sigmond by Hosmer, for the championship of New England and $250 a side. Last year Ten Eyck regained the championship again by defeating Hosmer in a race at Alexander Lake, Conn.

Immediately after that, they were matched again, but Hosmer paid a forfeit and withdrew, after training a few weeks. Ten Eyck's last race was in the East Boston Fourth of July regatta. It was a city regatta. There were four entries. Ten Eyck, J. J. Casey, Peter Conley, formerly of Portland and Donovan of Charleston. They finished in the above order.

He went to San Francisco in '88 with O'Connor, as his trainer, when the latter defeated Peterson in a race for $2000 a side. O'Connor died two years ago. It was he who went to Australia and got defeated for the championship of the world, by Stambury, who is now the technical champion of the world, though Gaudaur has beaten him. Ten Eyck trained the Wachusett crew of Worcester, Mass., that won the intermediate eight oared race at the National regatta at Saratoga, last July, and made the fastest time on record.

JEREMIAH J. CASEY, of South Boston, who will contest the New England championship with Ten Eyck, was born in South Boston in '58, and is therefore thirty-seven years of age. Like Ten Eyck, his life has been mostly spent in boats. He has a large establishment for the letting of boats and has done a great deal of racing and training of rowers. He trained the Harvard crew in '84, '85 and '86. In '83 he was one of a four-oared crew that raced in New England thirty-five years that first year. They never lost a race for three years. In Pittsburg, in '84, they won the international championship. The other teams were from Buffalo, and one team was composed of Lee, Ross, Hosmer and Plaisted.

Mr. Casey began rowing alone in '85, and beat Danbury of Boston in a three mile race. He beat Joyce of Springfield in '86, and again in '87 at Quinsigamond Lake, for $1000 purse. For seven years in succession, he won the city of Boston championship in the Fourth of July races. This last year he came second to Ten Eyck in the New England championship race. For the last three years he has trained the Riverside Boat club.

Miss Tilly Ashley, as she calls herself, who is to row against some local oarsman, is the wife of E. Newton Atherton of Hartford, Conn. She was expected to arrive in this city, with her husband yesterday. Fred Plaisted said yesterday that he had arranged with Peter Conley and another man to race with her.

Contest Over Office of State Bank Examiner. The appointment of a State Bank Examiner falls due soon, as the term of Mr. Charles R. Whitten, of Augusta, expires on the fifteenth of this month. Mr. Whitten has held the position for one term, of three years. It has been the recent usage to reappoint the bank examiner. Hon. Fred E. Richards held the place nine years, and then resigned. Hon. Geo. D. Bissell after his first term was reappointed; but resigned during his second term. Mr. Whitten and his friends have supposed that the same precedent of reappointment would be followed this year, especially as Mr. Whitten has been a faithful and able official. But within a few days an unexpected situation has developed. Hon. F. E. Timberlake, of Phillips, has been engineering a very comprehensive still hunt, and has collected a strong support. This has taken Mr. Whitten's friends by surprise, and there is now going on considerable remarkable hustling.

The batting of Nash and the fielding of Nash, Cooly and Dowd were the features. Attendance 1200. The score:

AT BALTIMORE.

Baltimore, September 9.—Hoffer was the star performer in today's Baltimore-Cleveland contest. He held the visitors down to four safe hits and struck out seven, four of them while the bases were occupied. He was given good support. Neither of the champions misplays costing more than one base. Young also pitched a magnificent game, and but for Blake's muff of Carey's fly in the sixth would have held the home team down to two runs. Zimmers two base hits, Young's out and Burken's long fly gave the visitors their only tally. Emble was hit on the temple by a pitched ball in the second inning, and was compelled to retire. Blake sprained his ankle in the seventh and had to be carried off the field. Attendance 9100. The score:

Holmes was batted terrifically in the opening inning, but settled down to good work beginning with the second. In the first game the Phillies won hands down hitting Weyhing almost at will. Thompson and Taylor made home runs, in the first game, and Clements made one in the second game. Attendance 10,012. The score:

AT BROOKLYN.

Brooklyn, September 9.—Erratic playing on part of the Brooklyn's rightfielder allowed the Chicago team to win today. Stein was not hit hard, but he pitched poorly. With two out in the fifty he made a wild pitch and two men on base scored. Terry's work was magnificent. Attendance 3000. The score:

The Augusta Game Was a Frost.

Augusta, September 9.—Owing to the poor attendance here today and the chances for a lighter attendance at the games to follow, the players and management of the Kennebec decided it best to discontinue the series with Portland.

BRAVE BABY M'KEE.

Gen. Harrison's Little Favorite Saves a Girl From Drowning—Russell B. Harrison's Daughter Fell into a Lake and Benny McKee Pulled Her Out.

Old Forge, N. Y., September 8.—Benjamin Harrison McKee, Gen. Harrison's favorite grandson, is the hero of Dodd Camp. Miss Russell B. Harrison's little daughter fell into the lake at Dodd Camp late Friday afternoon, and mainly through Benny's efforts she was rescued from drowning. Mary McKee assisted her little brother in the rescue.

Since Gen. Harrison came here the children have spent a good portion of their time while around the camp in playing around the dock. Mary McKee and Mrs. Harrison's daughter are very young and have had to be carefully watched. Gen. Harrison has repeatedly warned the children about getting too near to the water, and whenever he has been seated on the veranda he has kept both eyes on the youngsters.

The Harrison girl went to the dock to play. Nearby were Benny McKee and his sister Mary. Gen. Harrison and the other members of the party were indoors. Suddenly the Harrison child fell into the lake. "The water is about 10 feet deep as the dock. She screamed. Her cries were plainly heard by all about the dock. With rare presence of mind for one of 12 years, Benny McKee ran to the dock, as did also his sister. They saw the little one in the water. Benny reached down and grabbed her hand, pulling her to the surface. He held on to one hand while his sister assisted him. As soon as the child was heard Dodd Camp was emptied of every one in it. Gen. Harrison was among the first to reach the landing."

Convention of Leading Colored People to Be Held at Chicago.

Chicago, September 9.—As a result of a plan originated by to Chicago leading citizens, a national conference of prominent colored people in the United States will convene at Detroit, September 12, to discuss perplexing race problems. The conference will be of a week or 10 days' duration. John J. Jones, one of the originators, said yesterday: "We already held a preliminary meeting in Indianapolis, when it was decided to call a national meeting of representatives of colored citizens. We expect to have a great gathering and to accomplish much sociological work, now left without a leader or an advocate, through the death of Limerick.

Limerick, Sept. 7. Miss Martha Weymouth and Miss Grace E. Burbank of Saco, who have been guests of Miss Amelia A. Swasey for a few days, returned home on Saturday.

Miss Jessie Garland is the guest of Miss Carrie Bradbury.

The exercises which were to be given by the Limerick Accident and Honorable Artillery have been indefinitely postponed. We were very sorry to see these exercises spoken of in one of our contemporaries as "a disgusting failure."

For a number of years these exercises have been conducted by the members of an old organization which was called "The Limerick Artillery," and have been looked forward to from time to time with great anticipation. The old folks to renewing old and making new acquaintances, and the young folks to the social gathering and hop, which was given in the evening. But on account of the decease of many of the old members and because there were some objections made to the carrying out of the usual programme this whole matter was given up. Of course this was a great disappointment to many, but at the same time we do not see how the itinerant gatherers of news, who have the impetuosity to say the least, to speak of the Artillery Ball, as he calls it, but which is really a whole day's festivities, as a disgusting failure.

Prof. E. P. Lyon, professor of Zoology in Harvard School, Chicago, was the guest of Miss Nellie Eastman last week.

Miss Hucok, of Central Ohio, was the guest of Miss Mabel Weddell for a few days.

Miss Mabel Davis has gone to Leeds, Me., to work in the corn shop.

Mr. Ingalls Blake came home Saturday from Bartlett, N. H., where he has been painting for the past two weeks.

It seems to be rather lonesome at Sebagus Lake at the present time, as the picnic are all done coming and most of all the city boarders have gone home.

Miss Lulu Blake of Sebagus Lake is going to Cumberland Mills Tuesday for a week's visit among her friends.

Four graduates of Freeport High School, Guy Soule, Oliver Otis Storor, Herman Noyes and Harold Merrill have left town to join the Freshman class at Maine State College at Orono. We are also informed that Mr. Sumner Mitchell will join the same class the current year. The Maine State seems to be growing in popularity with our high school scholars.

The Oxnard House, occupied by Dr. Smith, is being painted.

Rev. E. C. Brown has returned for his vacation in the eastern part of the State much improved in health. There is a spring of pure water on the farm once owned by the later John Blethen and now the property of Hon. S. A. Holbrook, which is favorably known all over the town of Freeport for its purity. Quite a number of families use this water at the exclusion of all other upon their tables. This water has been proven by repeated trial to be useful for the diseases of bladder and kidneys—and one thing which is very acceptable, it is thus far free to everybody without money and without price. The owner kindly gives permission to every one to take as much water from this spring and as often as desired.

It is unusually dry about here at this time. A great many wells are entirely dry, and all of them are very low. The saw mills here are unable to run all of the time on account of the water being so low.

Almeda Stevens, who has been visiting friends in Poland for two weeks past returned to her home in this place last Friday.

Rev. Mr. Aikens, of North Windham, preached in the Congregationalist church at the lower corner last Sunday in exchange with Rev. Mr. Mank. He also preached in the afternoon in Centennial Hall in this village.

Mr. F. A. Spring has sold his place here on which the buildings were burned last fall, and also the "Harriet" place to Mr. Fred Martin of Danville Junction.

Mr. George C. Jordan attended the Mason's meeting which was held in Boston recently.

Guy Doleff visited his brother here last week on his way to the State Fair.

Miss Russell, who is taking lessons of Miss Stacy, is boarding with Mrs. B. S. Aikens.

Louise Dyer, daughter of Mrs. F. A. Spring of Deering Center, has been visiting Mrs. John Gordon for the past week.

The fall term of the town school began Monday and finally all though the town. Miss Ella McCann is the teacher here, and we hope for a good school.

Mr. F. W. Winter has a new horse which he purchased. Heighly. It was one of Burman & Morrill's.

We hear that Mr. Arthur Cummings is soon to vacate his residence here and move away.

POLAND.

Rev. Caleb Bradley's Visit to the Island Town in 1838.

His Experiences Up There in the Winter of That Year.

To the Editor of the Press:

As Poland celebrates the 100th anniversary of its settlement on Wednesday of this week, it seems to me a few extracts from the journal of Rev. Caleb Bradley relative to a visit he made to the place in 1838 will prove to be interesting reading to many, so I hand you the following for publication. The reverend gentleman resided in the part of Deering now known as Bradley's Corner, for a period of more than sixty years.

February 23, 1838. A fine pleasant morning. At noon we set out for Gray, calling at Dr. Allen's and at Benjamin Maston's where we took lunch at 3 p. m., arriving at Mrs. Weston's at sunset, where we were cordially received by the family, which is composed of Mrs. Weston, Mr. Pennell and wife, Wm. Weston and sister. This is a pleasant family. Mr. Weston was a classmate of mine—graduated at Harvard college in 1795; was a minister in the town of Gray for a number of years—was dismissed from the ministry some years since for want of a support. Since he was dismissed there have been three settled ministers here, all dismissed for want of support. There is one here now preaching to the people of this place who takes whatever the people please to give him. My opinion is he will come short of his salary, but it may be otherwise. The people may do more for his support than they would were they under a legal obligation, but I think in all cases a bargain ought to be made by the parties—and the parties each should conscientiously fulfill the obligation under which they are each bound to the other. If this were the case the support of a minister would be easy.

24th. A cold morning. Left Mrs. Weston's in Gray at 10 o'clock a. m. Called at (Rev.) Mr. Sheldon's and at the Shaker village, where we took dinner—paid 60 cents. Left 2 o'clock for this place, called at Ricker's, at Mr. Williams's and arrived at Mr. Cousins's 4 p. m., where we put up for the night. It was very cold, but we had good fires, good nature, pleasant family, blessed with seeming abundance of this world's goods, yet enough and to spare. The first family in the place as to respectability and prosperity, noble generous hearted men, is Esquire Cousins, with eight daughters and four sons. He is known as being a very hospitable man, and his house is a home for ministers whenever they have a chance to call upon him—always welcome to eat and drink without money and without price. He has my best wishes and my most cordial thanks for his politeness and hospitality. This is Poland and the above named Cousins came here when the place was new—came into possession of large tracts of timber land, 40 years since. This land and timber is now a fortune and the owner is quite independent as to prosperity, and he appears to be independent as to his mind—a great friend to ministers, orthodox in his sentiments, a warm supporter of the gospel and pays $100 towards the support of the present minister, the Rev. Thomas Williams.

25th. A very cold morning. Left Esquire Cousins for meeting a. m. Mr. Williams preached; text: 80th Psalm, 4th verse: "How long will they be angry against the prayers of the people?" He preached well—good attendance. He I preached text: "Exhort not one another daily while it is called today, lest any of you be hardened through the deceitfulness of sin." Good attendance. I being a stranger they would not listen, and listening ear to what the babbler had to say. Six 1-2 o'clock attended a meeting two miles from here. Mr. Williams and a number present, and I took the lead. The subject was prayer; several of the church members spoke and prayed. My horse led in the course of the exercises and returned to Mr. Williams, but no damage was done in consequence. We found our well and lodged here—where Rev. Thomas Williams is pastor of the church and minister of this people. He has a wife and one daughter and four sons—salary $400 a year. I long to see this minister of office in this place, do much good, and have many souls as seals of his ministry is my prayer.

26th. The weather of yesterday. Left Poland this morning at 10 a. m., and arrived at Gray Corner. Expense, 62 1/2 cents. Left at 2 p. m. Took tea at Benj. Maston's and called at Doctor Allen's where we stopped a few minutes. Six o'clock at home. Found Charles with a poor fire and things rather gloomy, but made up a fire and soon became quite warm. This has been a very unpleasant voyage taken all together, though pleasantly received wherever we called, but the weather being so extremely cold and the travelling so very bad everything was overclouded with a gloom. It is not very pleasant either to receive or pay visits in cold weather. We give ourselves much trouble, pain and anxiety in travelling from place to place, and we give those whom we visit, or on whom we call not much pleasure, though they may say they are glad to see us, etc., etc.

Poland was formerly called Bakers-town, and embraced the present towns of Minot and Auburn incorporated February 17, 1785. Named for an Indian chief who was once active on the Presumpscot river. Minot, embracing Auburn, was set off in 1802. The first minister was Rev. Jonathan Scott. L. B. C. Deering, Sept. 9, 1895.

It May Do as Much for You.

Mr. Fred Miller, of Irving, Ill., writes that he had a severe kidney trouble for many years, with severe pains in his back and also that his bladder was affected. Electric Bitters is specially adapted to cure of all kidney and liver troubles and often gives almost instant relief. One trial will prove our statement. Price only 50c for large bottle. One who is equally good at washing dishes, removing grease from cooking utensils, making paint bright and clean, scouring tinware, etc.

If you would like to engage me, just leave word at the grocers, and I will come right up. My name is

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 10.

The gold reserve has again dropped below the hundred million safety mark.

The Boston Masons, like their Portland brethren are looking about for a temple site.

The yellow man with the white metal versus the white man with the yellow metal, is the latest bimetallic catch phrase.

It should not be forgotten that the men who are manning the Defender in those days of yachting excitement are Maine fisher boys from Deer Isle.

The fact that the gipsy moth is liable to attack the cotton plant may have the effect of bringing the National government more strongly to the aid of Massachusetts in her war against the pest.

Gladstone, talking to a recent American visitor, sent to the American people the message that when they adopt the free trade policy the United States will become the foremost commercial power on earth. In a brief conversation ensuing he repudiated the idea that such a change would also work great benefits to Great Britain. "Perhaps we might gain one or two per cent. upon the present dimensions of our trade," he said, "but you would gain and hold 50 per cent. of the world's whole business." Before the Americans adopt the free trade policy they will want to understand from whom they are to get that fifty per cent. of the world's business.

Rear Admiral George A. Belknap, a retired officer of our navy, expresses very vigorously the predilections of the American sailor for the Russians. Writing to the Army and Navy Journal, he declares that, while we should have tender memories of the [England of] Pym, Hampden and Cromwell, we have nothing for which to thank the England of North and Grafton, Pitt the younger and Wellington, Melbourne and Peel, Palmerston and Russell, Gladstone and Disraeli, Rosebery and Salisbury. "We like our friends," says Admiral Belknap of the Russians, "and we ought to like them. Ever since the day when the Empress Catherine II tore up the autograph note of George III, asking her to put some of her troops under his pay to fight our fathers of the Revolution, and threw it into the fire in presence of the British ambassador, Russia has been our firm and steadfast friend in every emergency of comment and concern." Admiral Belknap concludes by advising Japan to form a friendship with Russia rather than with England. An active friendship for Russia, and a corresponding dislike for England, seems to pervade our entire navy. When ashore in foreign ports the American sailors usually fight with the English sailors and fraternize with the Russians. This partiality probably dates more directly from the days of the civil war when the sympathy of the Russians was of the most outspoken kind.

In an address at Greenacres the other day, Mr. Wm. Lloyd Garrison declared that the natural reservoir of the world's wealth, meaning probably the fields, forests, mines, etc., is barely tapped and stands ready to reward bountifully him who shall attack it with the implements of toll. "Then Mr. Garrison goes on to say, speaking of this reservoir, that what was meant for all has passed into private hands; that therefore the few exact tribute of the many who need access to this store; and finally that the cunning which seizes a source of natural wealth and gains riches by the tributes of men who are forced to use it, does not create but rather hinders creation. It undoubtedly happens sometimes that certain natural advantages which should go to the benefit of the many are seized by the cunning and the greedy and used with reprehensible selfishness. But in general too many are condemned as oppressors of the many when they would more properly be looked upon as the leaders of industry who point out new fields of effort to the masses. A man of brains and industry perhaps builds a mill for the manufacture of some article like cotton cloth or paper. From year to year he improves his machinery, increases the market for the cloth or paper, and finally at the end of twenty or thirty years has appliances which enable hundreds of his fellows to gain livings for themselves by using those appliances. In one sense he loves tribute on those who use the appliances; but is he not entitled to the tribute if he has developed appliances which those who use them could not have developed? If instead of a factory, men of brains and courage and industry develop mines, or fisheries, or railroads or steamboat lines, or open up to settlement large tracts of land, why should they not be entitled to those profits which Mr. Garrison calls tribute? The men who build up and control large interests are usually men who work harder than their fellows, deny themselves more of the pleasures of life, and often take greater hazards, than are taken by their less ambitious or less enduring companions. Such men are the helpers, not the enemies, of their slower fellows; and the tribute they usually get their fellows can well afford to pay.

GEN. ELY S. PARKER.

A Full Blooded Iroquois Indian With a Remarkable History.

Gen. Ely S. Parker, who died last week was a full blooded Iroquois of the Seneca or Wolf tribe of the famous Six Nations of Indians. He was High Chief Sachem of the confederation of tribes which is now scattered on reservations in several parts of New York, at Green Bay Wis., and in the Indian Territory. He was born on an Indian reservation at Tionawanda, N. Y., in 1828. Gen. Parker received a good education, and then read law, but was refused admittance to the bar on the ground that the Six Nations, being wards of the State of New York, were ineligible to citizenship, and none except citizens could be admitted to the bar.

Refused a license to practice law, he entered the Polytechnic Institute at Troy, and took up the study of civil engineering, graduating in due time with high honors.

After leaving the technical school at Troy he settled in Galena, Ill., where he became the personal friend of Gen. Ulysses S. Grant. Later he was appointed to a position in the Engineering Corps of the United States Army, under Gen. Baldy Smith. When the civil war broke out he entered the Union Army, and received a commission as Colonel of Engineers. Later on he became attached to Gen. Grant's staff, with the commission of Colonel. He was appointed military secretary by Gen. Grant and went with him through all his campaigns.

When the final struggle came and Lee decided that his cause was lost, it fell to the lot of Gen. Parker, the representative of the original owners of American soil, to prepare the conditions of surrender at Appomattox. This he did, and with a few minor changes suggested by Gen. Grant, the terms of surrender were presented to and accepted by Lee. Gen. Parker always preserved the original draft of the conditions of surrender, with the gold pen which was used by the Union and Confederate generals in signing the document which he engrossed from the original draft, and which is now in the War Department in Washington.

On March 22, 1893, he was appointed First Lieutenant of the Second United States Cavalry; on June 1, 1897, he was made First Lieutenant, and was promoted to Brevet Captain, Brevet Major, Brevet Lieutenant Colonel, Brevet Colonel and Brevet Brigadier General of the United States Army on March 2, 1897, for faithful and meritorious service during the war. His portrait is among those painted in the historic picture representing the surrender of Lee. After the war Gen. Parker returned to civil engineering. He was then a citizen in spite of his being an Indian, under the law which gave all who had served in the Union armies the right of citizenship; yet every obstacle was thrown in his way to prevent his voting. After Gen. Ulysses S. Grant was elected President of the United States he attested his old friendship for Gen. Parker by making him a member of the Indian Commission. It was Gen. Parker who negotiated the removal of his tribe from New York to the fertile and pleasant lands on Green Bay, Wisconsin.

Gen. Parker became an attaché of the Police Department in New York in 1878, while Clinton B. Wheeler was Police Commissioner. His skill as a civil engineer peculiarly fitted him for the position of superintending all the repairs to the buildings of the department. That position he kept, besides purchasing all the supplies for the department till the day of his death. He was quite a wealthy man once, but was wrecked in the memorable failure of J. C. Cooke & Co. during the great panic of 1873.

Gen. Parker's family consists of a wife and daughter. His widow is a white woman, a native of Washington, to whom he was married twenty-five years ago. His daughter is 15 years old. Gen. Parker was notable all through his career. Writers have described him, and Mark Twain in one of his works calls him lovingly "Old Seneca." He was the successor as Chief Sachem of the Iroquois to two of the most notable Indian chiefs in history, Complanter and Red Jacket.

Gen. Parker was a notable figure, standing erect as a staff, over six feet in height. He always wore a sugar loaf hat, with a stiff, flat brim. He usually dressed in a suit of slate-colored cloth, with a Prince Albert coat. Like all the famed Iroquois race he had regular features and was lighter in complexion than the Indians of the West. He was a member of the Grand Army of the Republic and of several secret societies. Gen. Parker had in his possession the medal presented by Washington to Red Jacket, the Indian chief. He always wore it. His Indian name was One-donogone. Police Commissioner Grant knew Gen. Parker well, and spoke feelingly of him when he heard of his death. "Gen. Parker," he said "was a brave man. He served on my father's staff during the war with distinction, and was promoted for bravery. The General has always retained the piece of paper on which the conditions of Lee's surrender at Appomattox were originally drawn." Col. Grant said he was thinking of Gen. Parker on the way to the city yesterday morning," he said, and when I heard of his death, I was not surprised."

PERSONAL AND PECULIAR.

President E. B. Andrews has been successful in his efforts to build up Brown University. The endowment has not been increased, but for the last year the income from securities and increase of fees from students has exceeded by $14,000, the largest receipts ever enjoyed from these sources before. The deficit this year was only $2900, and friends of the institution promptly made this up.
Rev. H. W. Pinkham, pastor of the East Washington Avenue Baptist church at Bridgeport, Conn., is in trouble with his congregation because he does not preach as necessarily true the story of the swallowing of Jonah by the whale.

THE MARKET HOUSE.

It was Sold Yesterday to be Taken Down In Two Weeks.

The market house that was built some years ago on the lot bounded by Fore, Milk, Silver and Market streets by the city government with the expectation that it would be occupied by the marketmen and become a large public market, was sold at auction yesterday morning to make way for the new armory and drill shed to be erected on its site.

This building was very solidly and carefully constructed at a cost of several thousand dollars, for the purpose for which it was intended, but it was not a success. The provision dealers generally preferred to remain in their old locations. Some few took stalls in the market. The building, when opened yesterday for the sale showed itself in excellent condition despite the crotch that covered the floor.

The terms of the sale yesterday were that the building was to be sold for cash, and it must be taken down within two weeks, the purchaser to have the right to put the material on the lot opposite while the demolition was going on. The brick floor was not included in the sale. Mr. Allen for F. O. Bailey & Co., started the sale in the presence of a very good company, although most of them were drawn together by curiosity. The sale started with a bid of five dollars, and by gradual ascent of bids of five dollars each the sum of $130 was finally reached when the property was knocked off to Mr. C. A. Hanson, the contractor and carpenter.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

Robert Mantell.

This evening the well known romantic actor Robert Mantell, supported by a strong company, and bringing with him fine scenery, will produce the play of "Monbars" at Portland Theatre. The story in brief is that of a man who has obtained wealth, to whom an old nobleman, with a lovely daughter, has become indebted in a large sum. The daughter who, unfortunately has, before the day of settlement arrives given her heart to another, accepts, in order to save her father, the creditor's offer of marriage, which is honestly made, and becomes a wife, to lead a life of misery. Husband and wife live as strangers soon after the marriage. The first lover appears later and discovers by chance that his sweetheart is lost to him forever. The husband's trusty servant, angry because his master has married, and ruined the prospects of his son for a legacy, plots to poison him in hopes to fasten the crime on the young wife, in which he is of course foiled. The former lover reappears on the scene after the husband has fallen sick from a slow poison and becomes a friend of a young doctor. The plotter is discovered by the would-be victim by means of a looking glass, while he is mixing the last dose of poison. A fine dramatic duel follows, with the result to be expected—the young wife is cleared of all suspicion, falls in her husband's arms, and the curtain is rung down on a triumphant victory of true love, loyalty and bravery, over suspicion, treachery and cowardice.

The Cotton King.

Manager William A. Brady's great production of Sutton Vane's successful melodrama "The Cotton King" comes to Portland Theatre next Friday and Saturday. Seats are now selling rapidly for about everybody who enjoys theatrical entertainments will certainly want to see it. It has had a most successful run in Boston, where night after night scores of people were turned away. This play is strong in all the elements which appeal most forcibly to the great average of mankind. Its situations, both serious and comical, are very magnetic; its mechanical effects elaborate and realistic; its comedy element pure and of the right sort of bubbling merriment and its pathos goes straight to the heart.

Thursday's Concert.

Among the attractions of the grand complimentary concert at City Hall Thursday night, at which Misses Knight and Ricker and Mr. Merrill will appear, will be a solo from each of these artists, a piano duet by Mrs. A. M. Smith and Miss Alice L. Philbrook, and the grand sextette from "Lucia" sang by Misses Knight, Ricker, Messrs. Stockbridge, Barnard, Harmon and Merrill. The tickets should be secured at once at Stockbridge's.

RUMFORD FALLS RAILWAY.

The Annual Reports Made a Most Gratifying Showing.

The Passenger Receipts Increased Nearly $20,000—The Freight Earnings Increased About $45,000—A Surplus of Over $15,000.

The annual report of the Portland and Rumford Falls Railway has been printed for 1895. It surely makes a remarkable showing. This is the directors report made by President Hugh J. Chisholm: Portland, Me., August 28, 1895. To the Stockholders of the Portland and Rumford Falls Railway:

The directors herewith respectfully submit the annual report of your corporation for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1895, and find it gratifying to note herein that our expectations have been realized to an extent which is highly satisfactory.

The following table gives a comparison of income and expenditures for the year ending June 30, 1895, as compared with the previous year:

	1895.	1894.
Passenger earnings, $59,420.59	$40,500.18
Freight earnings, 104,944.57	60,182.71
Mail earnings, 4,104.04	3,812.64
Express earnings, 4,500.00	745.01
Miscellaneous earnings, 1,519.69	4,181.72
Total earnings, $173,344.89	$111,431.19
Operating expenses, 100,861.85	67,466.71
Net earnings, 72,483.03	43,974.45
Interest, taxes and rental, 41,880.38	29,870.92
Surplus, 30,572.65	14,103.53
Dividends on stock, 13,800.00	12,757.50

Surplus after payment of all fixed charges and dividends, 16,771.55, 1,316.03. In February last your directors voted to hereafter declare and pay dividends quarterly instead of semi-annually as heretofore, and accordingly, during the fiscal year covered by this report, there has been paid one semi-annual and two quarterly dividends, all at the rate of five per cent per annum, as will appear in reports herewith submitted.

With the increase of traffic which developed early in the year, it became apparent that more equipment must be purchased, and accordingly, there were added new cars purchased of the Pullman company, Chicago, and new locomotives purchased of the Schenectady Works, the details of which appear in the superintendent's report. All of this equipment is of modern pattern and furnished with the latest appliances.

Your line from Poland Springs Junction to Rumford Falls, a distance of 32.9 miles, is now laid with fifty-six and sixty pounds steel rails. With the constantly increasing traffic, it has seemed desirable, when replacing this steel, to put in heavier pattern, therefore one mile of Pennsylvania pattern, seventy pound rail has been laid during the last year. This brings the road up to the desired standard and has proved so satisfactory that your directors are now of the opinion that this should be adopted as the standard pattern for future purchase, and that each year a portion of the lighter rails should be replaced by seventy pound rails. The property has been materially improved during the past year and still further improvements are now in progress, notably, the new steel bridges, to which reference is made in report of the superintendent.

The industries at Rumford Falls have shown great progress the past year and the population is constantly increasing. The business industries are being continually enlarged, while new mills are now in process of construction, notably the plant of the Sulphite company, which is nearly completed and ready for operation. This industry will add every materially to the traffic of your road and will be one of, if not the largest contributor to your freight earnings. It is gratifying to your directors that the industries at Rumford Falls are now so extensive and diversified that the income of the road at this point is not dependent upon any one industry.

The construction of the Rumford Falls and Bangsley Lakes railroad (which is of standard gauge), has been completed to Houghton's, a point eighteen miles distant from Rumford Falls, and in the early spring the line will be ready for the running of passenger trains through to Bemis, a distance of twenty-seven and a half miles from Rumford Falls, on the shore of Lake Umbagog, and in the fall there will also be completed this fall twelve miles of branches tributary to this road, from which your directors expect a substantial increase of traffic.

The moving of the Androscoggin river at Dixfield will furnish better facilities for reaching the country lying north and east of Dixfield, and this will naturally result in an increase of traffic at that point.

We are still indebted to all employees of the company for the care which they have exercised in behalf of its interests.

Treasurer R. C. Bradford makes this report a general exhibit of the year which has already been given in the report of the directors:

The operating expenses are stated at $23,336.45, maintenance of equipment $8,820.83, conducting transportation $53,849.47, general expenses $8,535.08. Superintendent Lincoln of the road says in his report. The number of miles run by passenger trains was 88,023, by freight trains, 63,598; by working and switching trains, 23,217 making a total number of miles run, 173,838. The amount of Bituminous coal used was 3581½ tons. Of this amount 3,948 tons were used for locomotives and the remainder for pumping and hoisting engines; and anthracite coal, 138 tons for heating stations, cars and water stations; wood 37½ cords for locomotives.

Two locomotives, two first class passenger coaches, and one combination mail, baggage and express car, have been added to the rolling stock. The roadbed has been maintained and improved, 136 tons new steel rails laid, 591 rods wire fence, and 5515 feet of snow fence built. All bridges are steel or iron and station buildings are in first rate condition.

The annual meeting of the company will be held at 10 o'clock this morning.

Ancient and Accepted Rite.

The Supreme Council for the northern jurisdiction will hold its annual session for 1895 in the city of Buffalo next week. The moving delegation have secured through the politeness of Mr. Boothby a special rate and will leave by the Mountain division of Maine Central railroad on the morning train Monday, the 10th, arriving in Buffalo in 24 hours.

AN ODD ACCIDENT.

A Horse Knocks a Man Off of a Bicycle.

A very odd accident occurred in front of the car office of the Portland Railroad Company on Congress street last night. There is a one horse carriage that has a stand at this place. Last evening a young man was spinning along on his wheel, and as he passed this carriage the horse, by a graceful and forcible movement of the head, hit the young man a clip and knocked him off his bicycle very neatly. Neither man nor horse were injured.

Last Evening's Alarm of Fire.

The alarm of fire rung in from box 413, last evening, was occasioned by a bright light seen in the basement of Jerome B. Fickett's paint store on Fore street. Officers Smith and Lombard, knowing the inflammable nature of the building, at once pulled in an alarm. The firemen of the Chemical, on entering the basement, found a lively fire in the furnace; and the reflection of this had made the basement seem on fire. Such a furnace fire is unusual at this time of year, and the officers were justified in taking no chances on a paint store.

Nos. 190-192.

The bargains are just as big this week as last in every respect, but we've got to admit they're diminished in number.

For, the people, when they saw those TURKISH RUGS were extremely interested and when shown price-tag, Well:—

"Send it to No. ———— please?" (that's all was said.)

Consequently we haven't as many for you to select from, but the assortment is still good

By the way, our new line of English as well as American Brussels is attracting considerable attention just now, and should we overlook them just remind us, as we want you to see them.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

The weather today is likely to be fair.

Sept. 10, 1895.

HAVE you been away all summer?

On arriving home do you find the house in quite as good condition as when you left it two or three months ago?

Do you find the Window Shades faded and soiled from a long summer sunshine and disuse?

Aren't some of them a bit torn and ragged and hadn't you had it in mind to do a little renovating.

This is a reminder that the time for looking after these important details has come, the season for making household repairs, refurnishing and re-juvenating for Fall and Winter is here; and, incidentally we want to remind you that this store is a good place for getting window shades and curtains and portieres and materials for recovering furniture etc and that you can save money by bringing us the whole order and having the work done here.

We keep only good qualities and the prices are always squeezed down to the lowest possible notch.

This department prides itself on the goodness of its workmanship.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Sept. 10, 1895.

HAVE you been away all summer?

On arriving home do you find the house in quite as good condition as when you left it two or three months ago?

Do you find the Window Shades faded and soiled from a long summer sunshine and disuse?

Aren't some of them a bit torn and ragged and hadn't you had it in mind to do a little renovating.

This is a reminder that the time for looking after these important details has come, the season for making household repairs, refurnishing and re-juvenating for Fall and Winter is here; and, incidentally we want to remind you that this store is a good place for getting window shades and curtains and portieres and materials for recovering furniture etc and that you can save money by bringing us the whole order and having the work done here.

We keep only good qualities and the prices are always squeezed down to the lowest possible notch.

This department prides itself on the goodness of its workmanship.

A Splendid Silk Exhibit.
The west show window of J. R. Libby's store 488-490 Congress street, is all aglow with evening silks. Nothing that we have seen for many a day equals this splendid exhibit. The silks are sunset tinted Taffetas, fluffy, crinkled silk Crepons, delicate as a butterfly's wing. Taffeta-brocades, light in color. Bengaines, heavy corded and massive in texture, but dainty in hue. It's worth many a street car fare to see this beautiful evening silk window.

THE ROLLER STRIKE.

Several of them Assault a Roller Because He Keeps at Work.

As predicted in yesterday's PRESS, some 15 or 16 rollers at the Rolling Mills quit work yesterday morning. About noon three of the strikers, who had been indulging in liquor, went down to the mills and assaulted one of the rollers, Mr. Will Day, who had declined to leave work, beating him badly. Word was at once telephoned to Marshal Trickey that there was a riot going on at the mills, and he immediately notified the sheriff's office.

Deputy Sheriffs Frith and Collier jumped into a hack and started for Ligon. When they reached what is known as the camp ground, just before reaching the mills, they were seen by the three men, who took flight. Two of them ran on the railroad track as two trains were crossing in opposite directions. They had a narrow escape from death, for they had to get onto a narrow plank between the two trains, and any movement to one side or the other would have caused them to be struck by one or the other of the two engines. They got away.

The third man was collared by the officers and made quite a resistance, so much of a one that they had to iron him and bring him in with the bracelets on. He gave the name of John Armstrong. He will be brought before court tomorrow for drunkenness and disturbance.

THAT COLLISION.

It Came Near Being a Terrible Tragedy—The Portland Had a Big Hole Knocked in Her—The Longfellow Fared Fully as Badly.

A half dozen lines was the summary manner in which the despatches from Boston, dismissed a very serious collision Sunday evening, between the Portland of the Portland Steam Packet company, and the Longfellow, a propeller excursion steamer of Boston, that had been on a trip to Provincetown, and was returning to port with about two hundred passengers aboard.

The Portland, under the command of Captain Deering, left her berth on time and proceeded slowly down the channel. She had a large number of passengers aboard. The officers and passengers of the Portland say that as the Longfellow approached the Portland was on her regular course and that the weather was clear. A small steamer evidently an excursion boat, seemed to be crowding the Longfellow on her port side, and that the Portland gave the signal for passing the Longfellow, to which that vessel did not reply. Captain Smith of the Longfellow, says, he gave one whistle, signifying his intention to go to the right of the Portland. He got in answer, he says, two whistles from the Portland, indicating that vessel's intention to move to the left, and therefore into collision with him. Thereupon Captain Smith gave four whistles, the signal of distress, and reversed his engines.

Whichever was at fault the two steamers rushed together the Longfellow giving the Portland a glancing blow in the starboard side, forward abreast of the pilot house. The Portland reeled under the blow but was fortunately going at reduced speed. The guard rail of the Portland was broken off for some four feet, and a hole stove about five feet above the water line, and about four feet square. As the hole was so far above the water, the boat proceeded and arrived here yesterday morning. The bow of the Longfellow was stove in about six feet above the water line. About five feet of the stem was affected, and the disruption of the timbers extends back about three feet. She is to be dry docked at once.

Of course there was great confusion on both boats, and the passengers were very much excited. On the Longfellow women screamed and men and women were with difficulty restrained from jumping overboard. Both boats hove to until the extent of their injuries were ascertained. Ropes were stretched across the stairways of the Portland to prevent the passengers from going below until the officers learned the damage inflicted. A steward of the Longfellow jumped from the deck of that steamer on to the deck of the Portland and was brought to this city.

The only person who was injured by the accident was Mrs. C. S. Decker of Winthrop, Mass. She was standing on the main deck close to the rail at the very point where the bow of the Longfellow came crashing through the side of the Portland, just underneath. Either from fright or from being struck by the splinters of wood, she became hysterical and was in a serious condition all the way down that night. She was coming to visit her brother, Mr. W. H. Durgin, who is staying at Long Island, with his mother. She was taken to the West End Hotel and a physician summoned. He said that he feared some injury to the spine.

Young People's Social Union.

Last evening the board of managers of the Young People's Methodist Social Union held a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. rooms for the purpose of making arrangements for the public meeting on the 23d of this month at the Congress street church. It was voted first to invite Rev. Mr. Hinkley of the Good Will Farm, to speak at the meeting.

It was also voted to buy a Bible, to cost not less than $10 nor more than $15, to present to the society of the Union having the largest per cent of attendance at their meetings this winter.

Sometime this winter a banquet will be extended to the pastors of the Methodist churches represented in the Union, the proceeds to go to the fund for the Good Will Home for Girls at East Fairfield. The wives of pastors are to be included in the banquet.

A meeting of the managers of the Union will be held after the meeting of the 23d to make arrangements for the banquet.

TROUBLE BEGUN.

The Public Schools Opened Auspiciously Yesterday.

Yesterday the Portland public schools opened for the season of 1895-96, and it was a most attractive sight to witness the gathering of bronzed and sunburned girls and boys, full of life and spirit, rejoicing in the good health that comes with the long summer outing. They thronged the school yards, and filled the corridors of the great buildings which resounded with their high voices and merry laughter.

A tour of the schools showed that all the buildings were in the pink of condition, as stated in an article on that subject published last week in the PRESS. Mr. Bowen, the superintendent of school buildings, and the janitors are entitled to great credit for their efforts in this direction.

At the High school there was a full house. The class that entered this year is very large, about 225 pupils, and it is probable that over 600 pupils are receiving instruction within the High school walls. There have been several changes in instructors. Principal Chase remains at the head, but among the new faces are Mr. Ellis, the Latin teacher; Miss Taylor, formerly of the Butler school, who will teach English; Miss Mantle and Miss Annie P. Higgins.

The Practice school shows among the new teachers Miss Skillings of the Training school, of '95, Miss Hodgkins of the class of '94, Miss Dunning from the Farmington Normal school, and Miss Folsom of Bangor, in place of Miss Gallison, resigned, Miss Gould, transferred to the Monument street, Miss Griffin, resigned, and Miss Welch transferred to the North street.

At the Butler school one room had to be dismissed yesterday as there was no teacher for it, nor any substitute. There are two new teachers at this school Miss Davis, formerly of Park street and Miss Hoyt. One position is vacant.

At the Jackson school Miss Eva A. Field had charge of a class as temporary teacher, and Miss Doughty of this year's training school is a new teacher.

At the North Grammar, Miss Jordan has been added to the staff, a former successful teacher at Cape Elizabeth.

At Shailer school Miss Foss has taken the place of Miss Hollowell, and Miss Martine of last year's training class is a temporary teacher.

At the McLellan school Miss Stevens made her appearance for the first time as principal.

A new kindergarten has been established in the Brackett street school with Miss Marion Worcester in charge. The school numbers twenty-five pupils.

Mrs. Mabel Sargent has left the Chestnut street kindergarten to accept a position of greater emolument at Newtonville, Mass. Miss Johnson has been placed in temporary charge of the school.

Miss Brown has charge of Peaks Island school in place of Mrs. Curtis.

At the Vaughan street school there was a very small attendance; only fifteen children. It would seem that there is one school too many in this district. That, however, is a matter for the supervisors to determine.

The primary schools appear in as flourishing condition as the grammar. It is expected that when the returns are made and tabulated it will be shown there are over 5000 pupils in the schools.

DULSE GATHERERS.

Three Old Women On Outer Green Island—They Live There in the Little Hut and Gather Dulse.

Two men from Long Island went out to the Green Islands and the Junk of Pork on a gunning trip last Saturday. They shot about 50 small sand birds and rock birds, but the ducks haven't yet begun to fly in any great numbers.

On Little Green Island there is still the hut in which the old man Stone lived, when he kept his famous wild dogs there. On this island the two gunners were surprised to find three old Irish women, walking about on the weed-covered rocks, at low tide, and engaged in gathering dulse. The women said that they had come there to stay a week. They had been brought by a man from Portland, who was at that time gone to the city with a boat load of dulse. Whether he returned that day or not the gunners didn't learn, but it seemed a pretty desirable place for three old women to live in and it now must be decidedly cold out there in the night time. Afterwards another Long Island man told the gunners that he knew the man who took the old women on the island and said that he was making $30 a week by the gathering of this dulse and the selling of it in New York.

The English have a saying, "A rolling stone gathers no moss."

China has a better one, "Keep on rolling 'till the right side comes up."

BETTER BECAUSE that's exactly what this great, round blundering world of ours, has been doing these thousands of years.

Turning and rolling 'till the right side turns up to the sun.

EXACTLY WHAT this Dress Goods department of ours is doing season after season.

Turning down the old, the passe, the yesterdays.

Turning up the new, the winsome, the todays.

Plaids for Instance.

THREE YEARS ago nobody wanted Plaids. (And no wonder, nobody would take 1892 Plaids now as a gift.)

BUT EVERYBODY wants Plaids today. And no wonder. For never were Plaids so charming as these newest Plaids that are taking an airing in our East Window.

PARIS SAYS, "Buy Plaids!" and Paris is the Doctor, the U. D. F.—Universal Doctor of Fashions.

What Paris says goes.

PLAIDS are here as low as 10 cts., and as high as $1.50.

The 10 cent Plaids are Scotch in style, weave and coloring. Clan Plaids.

TWENTY-NINE CENTS buys a Plaid that's a marvel of beauty. A surprise-party in Plaids. Quiet and fantastic, 29 cts.

FIFTY CENT Plaids are a fad with us. A craze, rather an ambition. A species of illuminated Plaid. Brown, or blue, or green, or red foundation plaided off in other choice colors. The whole lighted up with narrow lines of gold-color-satin crossing each other far apart.

Would have been snatched up at $1.00 eagerly last year, only these styles did not exist last year. 50 cts.

BOUCLE-MOHAIR PLAID.

This beautiful fabric has no affinity with pen, ink or Printers' type. It is simply beyond description. It has no precedents to start an attempted description.

Four color combinations. One in garnet and green plaid. This is crossed by a lattice work of black Mohair lines 1-2 inch apart. Then original lines of gleaming Mohair cross each other at 2 1-2 inch intervals, these Mohair lines full of lumps and bunches of color. Price, 77 1-2 cts.
